

~On Interconnection~

As a soul we are free from having anything other than interconnection. On what we call the other side of the veil, back home with Source/God (whatsoever you choose to call such Infinite Consciousness as there are a zillion names for the same Source energy what matters is the vibrational frequency intention within what you choose of such), all there is is interconnection. And actually it is called by its vibrational frequency sound of Kaeranah (pronounced as Kye raw ney ah) which means OneSoul or interconnected, interconnection. This is how we connected to and with one another in Lemuria as well. Earthly we use the term interdependence or as the amazing Thich Naht Hahn says, 'we inter are' :)

From an earthly resonance and ever since the rising of the waters in Lemuria which gave way to Atlantis and as we 'devolved' into denser forms of consciousness within soul agreement to do so collectively so as to play this game of LIFE (Living Infinite From Existence and Living Infinitely From Experience) on this earth, within each life we come into on this earth we are born completely dependent upon those around us, which albeit necessary for survival and because we as a collective conscious chose the soul agreement before coming to this earth as One with Source to experience duality/polarity through relationships, so that we could remember and BE what are Soul already is and knows (and also is who Source is) which is the complete collapse of relationship of two separate objects relating, and merge into Oneness, balance, wholeness, integration of a REALationship of union with Source, ourselves, a partner, and all beings and essences on this earth and in the cosmos.

Thus within choosing to birth into the earth physically in dependence was a chosen soul agreement, it is nonetheless one side of extremism within earthly life and of Source energy experience. And then as we grow, we come into the other extremism of independence to attempt to 'break free from' dependence, which is still yet the other side of extremism. One can imagine the infinity symbol and the left side of it being dependence and the right side being independence. Then throughout our life, through various earthly relationships (which are in and of itself soul agreements) we struggle back and forth, round and round the infinity symbol of dependence and independence, until we come into the centre of the infinity symbol, the sweet spot which is where interconnection, inter areness, Kaeranah simply IS (Infinitely Spiritual) of the balance, wholeness, integration of the collapse of relationship into union as shared above.

Within this ISness as we BE this within our vibrational frequency consistently, we then magnetise, draw to us within Soul calling, those souls whom resonate within this same vibrational frequency and we BE this twogether (two or more BEing as One) This is what Jesus meant whence he said 'When two or more are gathered in my name, there is Love'. Interconnection, inter areness, Kaeranah is free from being about a mutual dependence upon one another as the vibration and word of interdependence means nor is it how I use to word synonymously with interconnection. Rather, interconnection is simply what is shared above here, and is about a mutual give give rather than depending on one another to give something to one another, it is about a give within how may I serve? How may I assist you? It is a give give from the in~welling within the heart, the soul to give simply as Source gives. Free from being about depending on one another to give, we give simply because we choose to give as Source gives. For this is how the universe works and is, give give in a mutual flow.

One only need to look at nature on this earth and the nature of the cosmos to know this. The Sun gives by shining so that the trees may grow and the trees reach out to the heavens blessing the Sun in appreciation. There is no I will depend upon you for such, it is just a simple giving from their soul of who they are as their soul essence and then within that it mutually nourishes one another. And this is who we are to be on this earth now within evolving in our consciousness back to who we really are as a Soul incarnate, which is this interconnection, inter are, Kaeranah. May we all move within our BEingness of our Soul into the interconnection we are ~Lady Nenari, Princess of the Sea 20 May 2013
